

Project Title: Open Archief

Hosted By: Het Nieuwe Instituut & Het Nederlands Instituut voor Beeld en Geluid

Project Introduction:

Reuse of digital collections in museums and archives produces new stories in potentially surprising, innovative forms. For Open Archive, Het Nieuwe Instituut and the Netherlands Institute for Sound and Vision have invited makers to create new work using archive items from their digital collections.

About Organisation:

The Netherlands Institute for Sound and Vision is one of the largest archives in the world, various types of media are preserved, such as radio and tv programs, games, political prints, GIFs, websites and objects. Sound and Vision objectively charts the Dutch media landscape and the impact of media.

Het Nieuwe Instituut for Architecture, Design and Digital Culture investigates, presents and represents design disciplines through exhibitions, lectures, workshops, research, educational activities.
